

Thoracic Spine Homework

Name _____ Date _____

You may select more than one correct answer.

1. With which spinal condition would you perform McKenzie's Slide Glide Test?
  - a. Costochondritis
  - b. Fracture
  - c. Dislocation
  - d. Scoliosis

2. When performing the spinal thoracic percussion test, what type(s) of reaction might you anticipate?
  - a. Localized pain
  - b. Radicular pain
  - c. Cavitation
  - d. All of the above

3. What are the clinical signs and symptoms of scoliosis?
  - a. Paravertebral pain
  - b. Postural alterations
  - c. Difficulty breathing
  - d. Intercostal neuralgia

4. When performing Adam's Position procedure, if the scoliosis does not reduce with trunk flexion, what condition would you suspect as a cause?
  - a. Anatomic leg length inequality
  - b. Functional leg length inequality
  - c. Compression fracture of vertebral body
  - d. Postural imbalance

5. A positive Soto-Hall test, a non-specific procedure indicates conclusively which of the following diagnoses?
  - a. Spinal strain
  - b. Spinal sprain
  - c. Spinal fracture
  - d. None of the above

6. The presence of a Beevor's sign indicates which of the following conditions?
  - a. Upper motor neuron lesion
  - b. Lower motor neuron lesion
  - c. Thoracic nerve root lesion
  - d. Multiple sclerosis

